Create a new game

Step 1: Brainstorm and planning
- What kind of game would you like to make?
  - A board game?
  - A life-sized board game?
  - A trivia game?
  - An outdoor game like an obstacle course or Olympic sports?
- What is the goal of the game? How do you get points or win?
- What are the rules? How do you play the games?
- If you need ideas, look at any game you have at home, what's in the box, what do the instructions look like, etc.

Step 2: Make your game
- Make all the pieces/parts needed to play.
  - This could include: dice, game boards, playing cards, game pieces, costumes, coins, etc.
- Write out the rules of the game and the instructions on how to play the game.
  - Make sure they are specific and easy to understand.

Step 3: Test your game
- Test your game out by playing it with other people
  - As you play, take note of what works and what doesn't work.
  - Talk to the people helping you test the game to get their opinions, too.

Step 4: Make improvements
- Take what you learned in step 3 and make any changes/improvements to your game.
- Test the new version out to see if your changes helped.
- Make any other changes if necessary.

Step 5: Package your game
- When your game works the way you want it to, package it up so that you can play it whenever you want. Or package it up so that others could play it.
