Board officers elected, new board members welcomed

At its annual meeting on June 22, 2020, the Gateway to Science Board of Directors elected officers to serve for the 2020-21 fiscal year: President Tom Hutchens, MD, retired Mid-Dakota Clinic physician; Vice President Dan Leingang, PhD, Vice President for Academic Affairs, Bismarck State College; Secretary Amanda Wangler, Project Manager, Basin Electric Power Cooperative; and Treasurer Karol Riedman, CPA, Chief Compliance Officer, North Dakota University System.

Jason Anderson, Senior Solutions Analyst with Bank of North Dakota, was thanked for serving two years as President. He will continue to serve on the board and the Governance Committee.

The board welcomed two new members. Karie Mischel is Network Manager with Starion Bank. Chris Riedman is Director of Sacraments & Outreach for the Church of St. Joseph. Additional board members are Randy Binegar, Jeff Eslinger, Linda Gutensohn, Jeff Hruby, Kay Koch, Tim Lervick, Gregg Wiche, and Doug Zinke. Emeritus board members are Art Carlson, Brendan Joyce, Kevin Oberlander, David Sprynczynatyk, Scott Weigum, and Scott Wild.
Gutensohns honor grandchildren with donation

Joel and Dr. Linda Gutensohn recently visited the Gateway to Science hands-on exhibit gallery with their three grandchildren.

"Joe and I are blessed and thankful to have three bright, inquisitive, precocious, and curious grandchildren aged 2 1/2 through 11," said Linda. "We strongly support the mission, standards, and resources of the Gateway to Science center that will meet the educational needs of our grandchildren. Their love of science will be encouraged and they will be inspired for their future endeavors."

Linda and Joel have honored their grandchildren with a donation in their names to the Gateway to Science Capital Campaign. The children will be recognized on our new Everbright exhibit. The Gutensohns challenge others to honor their grandchildren, children, parents, teachers...anyone they choose. All capital campaign gifts of $1,000 or more will be recognized on the Everbright exhibit.

Linda is a member of the Gateway to Science Board of Directors and past Board President. She is a retired associate professor from University of Mary and early childhood and elementary teacher. Joel is a retired Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) Resident Agent in Charge and Transportation Security Administration (TSA) Federal Security Director. They have been members of Gateway to Science for many years, actively participating in a variety of fundraising events to promote access for all children to participate readily and enthusiastically in STEM exploration.
